Another U.S. Troop Buildup For Viet Nam

Johnson Predicts Darker Days Are Ahead for Americans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson—predicting darker days to come in Viet Nam—has signaled a new surge in the U.S. military buildup which could reach 100,000 men by late summer.

This would be a boost of about 25,000 over the currently scheduled level.

"We expect it will get worse before it gets better," Johnson told a news conference in assessing the course of the war which has involved the United States ever more deeply.

He spoke against the background of a Communist offensive which has brought more South Vietnamese people under Red guerrilla control in the past six months, isolated parts of the country, slashed roads and rail lines.

"Our manpower needs there are increasing and will continue to do so," the President said.

Early Reinforcements

A previously announced reinforcement up to 75,000 American troops will be completed very shortly, Johnson said.

"There will be others that will be required. Whatever is required I am sure will be supplied."

At the Pentagon, informed authorities said it is impossible now to say just how far the U.S. commitment will climb.

They said the extent of the increases probably will hinge on Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's findings after he leads a top level mission to South Viet Nam next week. This will be McNamara's first on-the-spot look at the situation in Viet Nam since May 1964.

Assembly Defeats Tax-Budget Bill

MADISON — The Assembly moved closer to another joint conference committee Friday after defeating the Senate-approved tax-budget measure in a matter of minutes.

A committee of more than the normal six members was called for by Assembly Speaker Robert Huber, D-West Allis. He predicted debate would last more than two weeks, even with 16 members representing both parties in each house of the legislature.

Huber also urged the attendance of Republican Gov. Warren Knowles at the sessions to iron out Republican and Democratic differences on taxation. The parties are in general agreement on a proposed budget for the 1965-66 biennium.

U. S. Airplanes Down Pair of MIG Fighters

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) —

Four F105 jets reportedly flew the mission. The pilots destroyed two bridges and five buildings at an ammunition depot, the spokesman said.

All four returned safely, he said.

An enemy plane was reported spotted in another sortie today.

No Confrontation

As four other F105s were dumping 750,000 leaflets over Nam Dinh 40 miles southeast of Hanoi, pilots reportedly saw an unidentified jet — possibly a MIG. The plane was flying toward Hanoi. There was no confrontation. All four F105s made it back with no opposition, the source said.

Government naval junk forces were active off the coast of South Viet Nam. A U.S. spokesman said a junk unit captured a Viet Cong junk loaded with three and one-half tons of rice and Communist documents about 290 miles northeast of Saigon.

"Our manpower needs there are increasing and will continue to do so," the President said.

4 Youths Admit Roles in State Holdup-Slaying

Arrest of AWOL Soldiers Made in Martinsville, Va.

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) —

Henry County Sheriff C. P. Witt says four youths being held here have admitted participation in the robbery-slaying of a Madison, Wis., area service station attendant.

Witt said late Friday night that John Edward Burt, 20, of Loretta, Wis., admitted he fired the fatal bullet after his companions gave statements admitting they participated in the holdup.

Killed in the July 1 robbery was Leroy Erdahl, 20, of Stoughton, a student at Stout State University at Menomonie, Wis.

The other youths being held were identified by Witt as Burt's brother, Thomas Donald Burt, 19, of Loretta, a student at Virgil L. Popplewell, 19, of Cincinnati, Ohio; and Moir Reed Plaster, 19, of Martinsville.

Highly reliable sources said, however, the two MIG fighter planes, identified as MIG-17s, were downed by U.S. Air Force A-4 Phantom jets over an area 40 miles south of Hanoi.

There was no indication of the nationality of the MIGs, but it was assumed they were north Vietnamese.

The U.S. Air Force planes were said to have been on "combat air patrol" in support of other American planes flying missions over North Viet Nam.

Hortonia Sacrifice One Trick For Ruff

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you deliberately give an unnecessary trick to an opponent you should have a good idea of how you will get the trick back. As a rule, you trade a trick in one suit so that you have assistance to us all.

I have always read quite a lot. Due to this, and to the fact of an excellent education which stressed intelligence and intellectual initiative, I have a very educated cast to my speaking. Unfortunately, the general reception to my personality is adverse.

People are always accusing me of putting on airs. Nothing could be further from the truth. I am very natural but it doesn't seem that way to most individuals who are not accustomed to hearing English used so correctly. To the average person I sound like an intellectual snob.

Is there an answer for grammatically speaking, ever-education?—A 20-year-old Aristophanes.

Dear Aristophanes: I examined your letter carefully and could find no evidence of "overeducation."

People do not react favorably to your personality because you try to sound like an egghead and it comes out scrambled.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My dear husband passed away five months ago. He was 68 years old. Typical of his generous nature, he was more concerned for me than for himself, when he learned his days were numbered. He made me promise I would ask his widowed sister, Kate, to live with me. His last words were, "I will rest in peace only if I know you are not alone."

Well, Ann, I knew Kate took a little sherry before supper, but I didn't know she also drank gin in the morning. I was shocked to discover she drinks all day.

contrary, had your husband known the truth he would not have made such a request.

Surely it was not his wish that you spend your remaining years playing nursemaid to an alcoholic.

Ask Kate's physician to suggest a hospital—preferably an A.A. type, if he can persuade her.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Committee to Decide on Air Conditioning

Architect Seeks Information for New Pleasant Acres

OSHKOSH — Whether the new Pleasant Acres home should be air-conditioned at some time in the future will be decided at a special building committee meeting Monday, July 19.

The institutions committee of the Winnebago County Board, meeting as the special building committee this morning, also will decide then what type of floors to install in the corridors and stairways for the new home for the aging.

Leonard Schober, architect for the new home, advised the committee he must know within a few weeks whether air-conditioning will ever be installed in the new home. He said it could cost up to $10,000 in duct work if the county ever plans to air-condition the home. The duct work to be installed would be designed one way if there is to be no air-conditioning and a different way if the county should plan to air condition the entire building and a third way if air conditioning of particular areas was contemplated.

Costly Project

The committee agreed that air-conditioning would not be installed at the beginning and will decide July 19 if it ever will be installed. Once the die is cast, and it is decided not to air-condition, the cost would be prohibitive to come back in 10 years or so and try then to air-condition the building.

The committee also will decide July 19 whether corridor floors should be of terrazzo or other type tile.

Committee members approved a change in the dining room plans whereby ceiling-to-floor window doors will be placed along the entire length of the dining room with an overhanging balcony on each floor. Residents then would be able to go out onto the balcony and at the first floor level onto a patio adjoining the dining room.

Homey Appearance

It was felt this would give a more homey appearance to the dining-lounge area, as well as make the building more attractive in appearance.

Committee members also approved having double-hung windows rather than awning or casement windows for the resident rooms.

Installing humidity control equipment to provide adequate moisture during the winter time also was stressed.

Appleton Youth Found Guilty of Forging Name To Identification Card

However, he pointed out when the youth signed the card, he or Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mitchell, youth's name to the card, he or Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Steinbach.

Porath Sentence Set for Tuesday

Sentencing of Peter J. Porath, 33, disbarred former Fond du Lac attorney, on two charges of state income tax evasion Friday was postponed until Tuesday.

Porath was to have been sentenced on two counts of failure to file state returns — one for 1959, the other for 1962 — in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Porath, however, was not present, but was represented by counsel. Judge Gustave Keller postponed sentencing until Tuesday so the former attorney could be present.

2 New Majors Considered for WSU, Oshkosh

Regents Approve Degree in Music, Retarded Program

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Two new major programs of study at Wisconsin State University at Oshkosh, including one leading to a degree in music, have been approved by the Board of Regents of State Colleges and referred to the Coordinating Committee on Higher Education for its expected concurrence.

The second new major course of study will provide an emphasis upon mental retardation in the special education curriculum.

The school now has in operation a summer certification program for prospective teachers of mentally retarded children. There are enough courses available to warrant the organization of a major field of study during the regular academic year, the regents were told.

Only one additional course would be required above the existing curriculum offerings in the field.

Music Plans

The school administration also reported that student interest in a music major is high and that there are available facilities and staff to organize a course leading to the degree of bachelor of music.

The bachelor of music degree is required to achieve certification by the National Association of Schools of Music.

Staff already available for music courses include 17 full-time teachers and 10 working part-time. Eight of the full-time faculty members have doctor's degrees and two others are nearing completion of requirements for a doctorate.

The degree course would provide work in three major fields: the instrumental major, the vocal major and the piano major.

The expanding music department will be housed later in the planned fine arts building on the campus, officials said.

Enlarged Flashers Okayed for 54-45

Move May be Step to Timed Signal At Busy New London Intersection

NEW LONDON — Promised installation of enlarged lens in the signal beacons at the intersection of U.S. 45 and State 54 is hoped to be a step toward getting regular timed stop lights at the sometimes dangerous intersection.

The intersection, one of the more accident riddled in the city, caused consternation to motorists during summer weekends.

Last week a more than usual flow of traffic was traveling

Protest Signs On Bridge at Butte des Morts

Committee Feels Speed Limit Aids Traffic Congestion

OSHKOSH — Signs indicating a minimum speed of 45 miles per hour when possible on the U.S. 41 bridge over Lake Butte des Morts have been mistaken by motorists as indicating the maximum speed. Supv. Duane Sweet, Neenah, protested at Friday's meeting of the sheriff, coroner and safety committee.

Sheriff Marvin Peppeler agreed with Supv. Sweet and said that it might be better not to have any signs on the bridge at all pertaining to speed.

He agreed that the 45 mile per hour speed indicates the minimum speed for the bridge and is intended to keep traffic moving.

Motorists Slow Down

However, they agreed, it seems to cause the motorists to slow down to that speed and leads to additional congestion on the bridge.

The committee decided to have Chief Deputy Charles Lowry observe the speed conditions of motorists on the bridge and to recommend to the committee what further action should be taken. State Highway Commission approval would be required for removing the speed signs since the State Highway Department puts the signs on the bridge.

The committee also agreed to dispose of the police motorcycle which has not been used recently and to obtain prices for either an outright purchase or for a trade-in on a future squad car purchase.

Committee members will meet again at 10 a.m. Wednesday with the public building committee and with V. A. Verhulst, State Department of Welfare detention supervisor, and a representative of the Stewart Iron Works Co. of Ohio, makers of the jail cell locking equipment, to discuss improvements to the jail cell locks.

Two University Department Heads Resign

OSHKOSH — Two veteran department heads at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh have retired from their administrative posts and are handing over duties to newly-elected chairmen.

Both former chairmen, Dr. Ralph Norem and Nevin S. James, will remain on the WSU-O teaching staff.

Dr. Norem joined the WSU-O staff in 1939 and held the chairmanship of the political science department from the time of its creation in 1961 until the present. A full professor of political science, Dr. Norem holds B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Minnesota.

James, professor of English, came to the WSU-O staff in 1923. A graduate of Wabash College and the University of Wisconsin, he has been chairman of the English department since 1944.

Elected by the political science staff to replace Dr. Norem as chairman is Dr. David Chang, a staff member at WSU-O since 1960. Dr. Chang holds degrees from Southwestern College, the University of Minnesota and University of Illinois.

Dr. Francis Evenhuis has been elected chairman of the English department. He joined the staff here in 1963 with degrees from Western Michigan University and the State University of Iowa.

Brown, Fond du Lac Counties Take Black and White Honors

Shawano Has 3 Firsts; Waupaca, Outagamie, 2; Winnebago, One

SHAWANO — Seven counties younger in the junior bull shared honors, but Brown and Fond du Lac again were the big winners at the Fox Valley Black and White Show here Friday.

Some 350 entrants paraded in the annual beauty contest for Holstein dairy cattle. The judge, who worked six hours in the sun

without letup, was Eugene Nelson of Union Grove.

Bulls, heifers and cows from

Brown County took eight of the 27 class awards. Seven of them went to the Wisconsin State

Reformatory herd. Bill Kiek

haefer, young Greenleaf show man won the other prize.

First Places

Fond du Lac Dairymen captured 11 first places. Three went to Shawano County, and two each to Outagamie and Waupaca. One was credited to Winnebago County.

In placings at the top, Fond du Lac County had the edge.

Marhabil Happy Roburke, a splendid animal in the aged cow class from the herd of Harold and William Hageman, Fond du Lac, was judge Nelson's choice for Grand Champion Female.

Reserve honors went to Wisconsin Letha, the reformatory's

entry in the class for cows with

lifetime production exceeding

100,000 pounds of milk.

The two cows had placed in the same order for the Senior

Female honors.

The break-in was reported to police Friday morning by Leo

Rabekorn, beach director.

Police said the bathhouse was entered by cutting the screen from a small window at the rear of the building. The window is several feet off the ground.

Candy bars taken were in a show case and the thieves used a box they found near the case to carry off their loot. Nothing else was taken, police said.

Result of Arrests by Patrolmen

Waupaca County Collects $9,100 In Fines During First Half of 1965

WAUPACA — Arrests made during the same period last year.

During June there were two fatalities raising the county's 1965 highway death toll to five, one less than last year.

Two Deaths

The two most recent deaths reported occurred June 22 near the intersection of County Trunk X and U. S. 10 west of Weyauwega, where a Wisconsin Rapids couple was killed in a car-truck crash. Their deaths were the first since a triple fatality Feb. 20 in the city of Waupaca.

In June, 50 accidents were filed with the traffic department. Of these 36 were investigated by the county patrol, seven by the sheriff's department, four by the state patrol and three by other police departments of the county.

There were 69 vehicles involved in accidents and 20 persons injured in June.

66 Traffic Arrests

County traffic patrolmen made 66 traffic and nine criminal arrests; issued 79 warnings and 21 five-day tickets; made 21 blood runs, escorted 41 funerals, transported 10 prisoners, assisted 34 motorists in trouble, received 207 radio messages, 51 verbal complaints and 61 telephone complaints.

The patrol assisted the sheriff's department 28 times and other departments 35 times during the month.

A sheriff's department report stated that during June prisoners spent a total of 285 days in jail. This is an average of 9.5

prisoners per day. The state jail inspector has already placed a places were nailed by dairymen from that county.

Nelson awarded a total of 144 blue ribbons. Fond du Lac County was far out in front with 61. That bettered the total of 55 of 145 blue ribbons last year.

Thirty-three of the blues were taken by Brown County dairymen, compared with 39 a year ago. Shawano ranked third with 18 ribbons. Eleven went to Winnebago County, 10 Waupaca, nine to Outagamie and two to Green Lake.

Veterans Missing

Missing from competition this year were Sam and Jack Stanchfield, Fond du Lac, leading winners of past years. They have sold their animals. Jack was a clerk and Sam was there as president of the Fox Valley Holstein Association.

Members of the cattle committee for the show were Ray Christianson, Shiocton; Robert Muck, Shawano, and Willard Gums, Shawano.

Grand champion male was Len Wil Marty Kro-Home Prince, Wilbert Peters, Fond du Lac; Reserve champion male Hagemans Hi-Cross, Gordon Immel, Fond du Lac.

Grand champion female was Marhabil Happy Roburke, Harold and William Hageman, Fond du Lac; Reserve grand champion female-Wis Letha, Wisconsin State Reformatory, Greer Bay.

Junior Champion

Wisconsin Claire, a reformatory entry in the big senior yearling heifer class, was named the Junior Champion Female. The reserve title went to Y. Paca Great Hope, a senior heifer calf owned by Leonard Kobiske, Waupaca.

Reserve honors went to Wisconsin Letha, the reformatory's

entry in the class for cows with

lifetime production exceeding

100,000 pounds of milk.

The four youths were arrested here on grand larceny charges in the theft of automobile equipment from a Henry County garage.

Madison authorities have found a .22 caliber rifle along Interstate 90 near Stoughton, about 15 miles south of the service station. It was sent to the FBI laboratory in Washington, D.C., for tests.

Death of German At Heidelberg, Germany, an Army spokesman said the three soldiers had been sought for questioning in the killing of cab driver Kurt Pueser, whose body was found at Schweinfurt, Germany, last March 22. The man's cab had been found abandoned earlier that day.

The Army was unable to say in what way the three soldiers, all of whom held the rank of private first class, might be involved in the case. They had been absent without leave from their unit since the time of the slaying. The spokesman said the three were formerly members of the Third Infantry Division at Wuerzburg.

A half-dozen Viet Cong were reported killed, and 51 prisoners were rounded up by the rescue force.

Costly Ambush Military sources placed the toll of a Communist ambush 35 miles northwest of Saigon Thursday at 151 government soldiers dead, 25 wounded and 59 missing, including four U.S. advisers. The guerrillas sprang the trap as a 365-man battalion was en route to relieve the Xon Duo on the post from Clet Cong attack.

In ground action today, a U.S. spokesman said Vietnamese forces killed 13 Viet Cong and captured 20 others in an operation 35 miles south of here in Go Cong Province.

Only two government soldiers were reported wounded in the operation, but a U.S. Army helicopter gunner was killed by groundfire Friday while landing troops for the assault.

In a final report on the three-day U.S. airborne operation into D Zone that ended Friday, a U.S. spokesman said the bodies of 51 Viet Cong were found in the area about 25 miles north of Saigon, and it was estimated 150 of the enemy had been killed and 200 wounded. Twenty-eight enemy suspects were captured.

10 U.S. Dead

The operation was the costliest in terms of American casualties of any Viet Nam action to date. The Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade reportedly sustained 52 casualties—10 killed and 42 wounded.

Australian troops participating in the operation reported two confirmed Viet Cong dead.

Plan Submitted For Constitution Revision Meet

Lutherans, Catholics to Extend Official Contact

Vatican, World Federation Announce Plans To Go Beyond Staff Talks, Include Others

Plans for intensifying and extending official contacts between the Lutheran World Federation and the Roman Catholic Church were announced this week.

Until now the two have had contacts only at the staff level except for the attendance by invitation of official LWF observers at the current Vatican Council and of Roman Catholic observers at the federation's 1963 assembly in Helsinki.

The plans, which were drafted by the LWF general secretary, Dr. Kurt Schmidt-Clausen, on the basis of consultations with the staff of the Vatican Secretariat for the Promotion of Christian Unity, were approved by the federation's executive committee at its June meeting in Tanzania.

Both parties thought it well to have a joint consultation where the principles, shape and scope of future liaison contacts should be discussed—such a consultation involving others besides staff members.

The executive committee agreed not only that the staff level contacts be "continued and intensified" but also that there be a consultation of a "joint working group" consisting of representatives of the Roman Catholic Church and the LWF.

Both LWF and the Vatican have announced the appointment of seven representatives for the exploration of possible future collaboration.

Victory Over Foxes

6 Pitchers Employed by
Fox Cities

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Fox Cities Foxes managed to get base runners on in every inning Friday night, but could not push them around and dropped a 5-3 Midwest League decision to Waterloo at Goodland Field in the opener of a 3-game set.

Waterloo overcame a 1-0 Foxes lead by scoring a pair of runs in the fourth, another pair in the seventh and an insurance tally in the ninth.

Manager Billy DeMars used six pitchers in an effort to pull the game out of the fire in the late inning, but to no avail.

Tonight the same teams will meet again. The starting hurler for the Foxes is not certain because of the high number of pitchers who saw action last night.

Connell Loser
Larry Connell started and was charged with the loss. Connell worked 6 1-3 innings and was followed by five mates on the hill. The rapid mound rotations stretched the comparatively low scoring game into a 2-hour, 51-minute marathon.

The Foxes drew first blood by scoring a run in the second inning when Ray Wojtowski walked, went to third on John Sepich's single and scored on a sacrifice fly by Jerry Harmon.

Waterloo went ahead in the fourth when Jim Williams and Hal Wade singled. With runners at first and third Wade tried to steal second and on the throw down, Williams crossed the plate and Wade was safe at second. Gordy Avery doubled Wade home.

Put it Away
The victors put it away with two more in the seventh when Darrell Bunge, Waterloo's starting hurler, singled, went to second on a passed ball and scored on Brian Edgerly's single. An infield out advanced Edgerly and he scored on a single by Williams.

The Foxes cut the margin to 4-3 in the eighth when Jim Rouse led off with a screaming triple to the right field corner and Bob Connolly followed with a double. Bunge was replaced by Neil Hutcheson on the mound and Jerry Harmon's single plated Connolly to make the score 4-3. In the top of the ninth, the Hawks scored a run when Ron Taylor walked Hutcheson and followed up by hitting Edgerly with a pitch. Emmanuel Fitzgerald came in and walked two more batters to force a run in before he settled down and got out of trouble.

Hill Singles
With one out in the last of the ninth Elmore Hill slapped out his third hit of the game for the Foxes but Rouse ended the threat by grounding into a game ending double play.

The Foxes had a 10-hit attack led by Hill's three for five.

Mill Pappas now has an earned run average to go with his boiling point.

Both are among the lowest in the American League.

The fiery Greek, who may add a mid-year flourish to what could be his finest season by starting the All-Star Game, pitched the Baltimore Orioles to their fifth straight victory Friday night, checking the Chicago White Sox 1-0 on four hits.

A consistent winner who has never hit the 20-victory circle but always has managed to surround himself in controversy. Pappas says he is learning to control his temper. That just might be partly responsible for his 9-3 record and 1.74 ERA — lowest among AL starters.

"I've mellowed," Pappas emphasized. "I know I still argued with umpires last year, but the occasions were fewer and farther between. It used to be when I didn't like something, I'd ask why — from the mound. It wasn't very diplomatic."

It also wasn't very diplomatic when he told Manager Paul Richards he wasn't going to do the prescribed running, and it wasn't very diplomatic when he told Manager Billy Hitchcock he wasn't going to the bullpen as directed.

"I'm getting better," Pappas stressed. "It's taken me a long time to learn."

Has he?

After blanking the White Sox, Pappas lingered on the field to say a couple of words to Plate Umpire Cal Drummond. Asked why, Pappas said simply:

"To congratulate him on the great game he called."

Pappas' victory kept the third-place Orioles 4½ games behind the first-place Minnesota Twins, who ran their winning streak to eight games by belting the New York Yankees 8-3 behind the homer hitting of Don Mincher and Harmon Killebrew.

The Los Angeles Angels dropped second-place Cleveland 3½ games back by sweeping a double-header 4-3 and 2-0, the night victory coming on Marcelino Lopez' two-hitter. Boston walloped Washington 10-4 after the Senators took the first game, 2-1 and Detroit nipped Kansas City 7-5 in 10 innings.

164 Against Sox

Pappas built his lifetime record against the White Sox to 164, getting the only aid he needed from a second inning run put together on Brooks Robinson's double and a single by Boog Powell. The loser was Bruce Howard, who allowed only three hits in seven innings.

Killebrew and Mincher slammed consecutive first-inning homers off Jim Bouton and Mincher later added a three-run homer in the seventh inning.

Dave Boswell was tagged for homers by Elston Howard and Roger Repoz, but posted his first complete game in the majors and brought his record to 6-4.

Fischer, who lost in the championship flight in each of his earlier cracks at the title, came through Friday with a 5 and 4 victory over co-medalist Frank Van Laanen of Green Bay.

Van Laanen moved into the finals with a 2 and 1 conquest of Joe Harlow of West Bend. Fischer, 26, Northeastern Open titlist in 1964, downed Reuben Erdman of Sheboygan, the other medalist, 3 and 2, in the other semifinal match.

Medalist Bruce Grasamke of Stevens Point captured the junior division crown. The senior title went to Herb Stinski of Neenah.

Stinski defeated Ridgeway in the senior championship match, 4-3.

Fox Valley's Dave Keough won the junior handicap crown with a 2-1 victory over Don Masterson of Waupaca, in the finals.

U.S. Golfers To Rise Again, Says Jones

Doesn't Believe Foreign Domination Amounts to Trend

ATLANTA (AP) — Bob Jones won't take anything away from foreign golf stars Peter Thomson and Gary Player but the former king of the links and one of the game's all-time greats says Americans will rise again.

"I just don't think this foreign domination is a trend," Jones said as he talked about Thomson's victory Friday in the British Open and Player's recent triumph in the U.S. Open.

Thomson is from Australia and Player from South Africa.

"It's just one of those things that happens in the uncertain game of golf," Jones said. "Foreigners won't beat our top players with any great amount of consistency."

Jones admits there "are more good foreign players now than there have been in a number of years," but noted he really doesn't consider Player a foreigner to United States courses.

On American Tour

"Player has been on the American tour so long that he knows our golf courses as well as any American. The same is true of some other foreign players — men like Bruce Devlin and Bobby Locke, until he was injured in an accident."

Jones also questioned Player's statement after he won the Open that America's emphasis on power golf hurt such power player as Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer on some courses.

By contrast, Player said, foreign golfers concentrate on just hitting the ball straight.

"That might have had something to do with Player's win in the Open," Jones said. "But I doubt it. I watched the Open on television and thought the biggest factor in Player's win was his ability to get down in two from off the green. His chipping and putting was exceptionally good."

"I don't think you'll see Nicklaus and Palmer de-emphasize power," Jones concluded in an interview with the Atlanta Constitution.

FREEDOM SCHEDULE

Suspended Due

To Tournament

Because of the district semi-pro tournament in Menasha, play in the Fox River Valley League will be suspended Sunday.

The first game to be postponed was the Macs-Kaukauna clash. Little Chute-Kimberly and Freedom which are involved in the other two scheduled games, have reached the district tourney semi-finals and will see action both today and Sunday (either in the third-place game or in the finals).

Thus the Papermakers-at-Manitowoc and the Two Rivers-Freedom league games will have to be rescheduled.

Waterloo, after a 5-3 win over the Fox Cities Foxes, moved into second place on a percentage-point basis. The two Rapids teams are knotted in third. Quincy blanked Clinton on four hits, 6-0, in the only other game on the agenda.

The Senators won the opener in the ninth when Ed Brinkman singled home the winning run after a single by Frank Howard. Bill Monbouquette's error and a double steal.

Hiking and Riding Trails

Something new in outdoor recreational opportunity under the sponsorship of the state government has been offered by the State Conservation Department in its acquisition of a 30 mile strip of abandoned railroad right-of-way in west central Wisconsin for adaptation as a hiking and horseback riding trail.

The Conservation Commission has acquired the long strip of land in the rugged section of Juneau and Monroe Counties between Sparta and Elroy for the reasonable price of $12,000. Even with the assumption that there will be some financial commitment for the maintenance of the fencing, which neighboring livestock farmers have demanded, and perhaps some provision of rest and other facilities, the cost is insignificant when put against the prices paid for some of the other land acquisitions of the department in recent years.

The purchase of the old North Western railroad right-of-way will be the first in a new category of department-owned lands that will be formally known as "state trails," and will recognize the increasingly obvious fact that there are thousands of our Wisconsin residents and our annual

Change in Ceylon's Attitude

When the government of Madame Bandaranaike seized properties of Standard Oil, Caltex and Shell in Ceylon in 1962, some efforts were made to come to an agreement about compensation to the American companies. But enthusiasm was definitely lacking in the lady's regime. Madame Bandaranaike seemed to agree with Indonesia's Sukarno that a stated willingness to discuss compensation was all that was needed to appear to be honest.

The United States government thought otherwise and cancelled the proposed $3 million in aid to Ceylon in 1963. Only surplus food products for relief agencies were permitted to go to Ceylon from the largesse of America.

Last winter Madame Bandaranaike was forced to resign as prime minister and her party was defeated in subsequent elections. The new prime minister, Dudley Senanayake, is pro-western and quite definitely interested in a resumption of American aid programs.

Negotiations on the price of compensation are once more under way and the United States has already announced its willingness to restore aid programs if agreement can be reached.

Ceylon is plagued by unemployment and a high cost of living. It had a severe rice crop failure this last year. All these factors are exploited by the left wing Marxist supporters of Madame Bandaranaike through strikes and slow downs. Certainly the new prime minister will be on the spot to produce some concrete results in the next few months. He needs visitors who are more concerned with the landscape, and nature study, and the restful rewards of the quiet outdoors, than with fishing, or hunting and the other categories of outdoors recreation that have so long dominated the conservation program.

As many of the users of our state parks and forests know, the hiking and horseback trails within those tracts are among their most attractive features, and are increasingly used by tourists as well as neighborhood visitors. Such trails are necessarily of relatively modest length. The 30 mile tract in south central Wisconsin should tax the energies of even the most enthusiastic hiker or rider, and should provide the solitude that is often not assured in the busier state parks.

The state game division has wisely resolved that such improvements on this land strip as are planned will be limited to primitive accommodations. We have sometimes been inclined to believe that the "development" within some of the state parks has been excessive. Those visitors who demand laundromats, pre-cut fuel for their picnic fires and the other conveniences of the city might save themselves trouble by camping in their backyards.

NORTH AFRICA MAPPER

In this case, the left is geographic. It's made up of Libya, Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco, the four Moslem states that sprawl in Saharan splendor across North Africa. They occupy what Arabs call "the Maghreb" (literally, "the West"), a tacit acknowledgement that there is something different about them.

The right is political. It means that the states of the Maghreb are coming to rebuff the blandishments of the Communist bloc, particularly the ubiquitous Red Chinese. It means too that they are taking a more and more skeptical view of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's self-assumed leadership of the Arab World. It does not mean, however, that they are ready to leap blindly into the Western camp.

COUP IN ALGERIA

The latest manifestation of Maghreb independence was the June 19 coup that ousted Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella.

The bombastic Ben Bella, about 45, who ruled Algeria for the first 33 months of its independence, was a close friend of Nasser and Communist Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro, who often referred to Algeria as Cuba's "sister nation." Under Ben Bella, Algeria was chosen as the site of the Second Afro-Asian Conference, a pet project of the Red Chinese, and the Ninth World Youth Festival, a Soviet Union promotion. The former was set for late June, the latter for this month. Both have since been postponed.

Future relations between the new Algerian government and the Communist World probably will be a lot less intimate. Col. Houari Boumedienne, about 40, the mastermind behind the coup, has just about said so. And, judging from their reaction to the news of Ben Bella's ouster, the

"independent of what they Communists seem to think so, may do later, even though they be more revolutionary than anybody else, they have inflicted great damage to the revolutionary movement of Africa," he said. "If they decide to break relations with us, it does not matter. They would not be the first military to do so."

The other states of the Maghreb—Morocco, Tunisia and Libya—have displayed a disenchantment with Nasser and Communism for some time. Last May, when Nasser was feuding with West Germany over Israel, all three refused to follow the Egyptian President's lead and switch recognition from Bonn to Communist East Germany. Said Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba:

"These gentlemen in the Middle East (Nasser at al) have formed a habit of considering themselves as tutors of the Arabs. They think they can uproot all regimes which refuse to be subjugated. But this is not the case of Tunisia, where the government is solid. If they want to join the Soviet camp, it is their business. But we will not accept their efforts to force us to work against Americans in the name of solidarity with Nasser."

TOUCHES RAW NERVE

Recently, Bourguiba touched a raw nerve when he suggested that the Arabs compromise with Israel on the question of Palestine. "I doubt that the Arab countries will ever mobilize two or three million soldiers to throw Israel into the sea," he said, openly deriding Nasser's frequent boast. The mere suggestion of doing business with Israel brought out the street mobs in Cairo to smash windows in the Tunisian embassy. Bourguiba was assailed as a "zionist" and a "son of a dog."

Morocco, a monarchy under young (36) King Hassan II, suffered its dismaying experience with Nasser and Communism in the fall of 1963 during brief border war with Ben Bella's Algeria.

Hassan would up breaking diplomatic relations with Castro, charging that Cuban freighters were carrying war materials from the Soviet Union to Algeria and that Cuban soldiers actually were manning the weapons. The king also came near breaking with Egypt and Syria over their press and radio attacks on Morocco.

Libya, where the United States maintains its last big air base in Africa, has always been friendly to the West. But, as one of the poorest nations on earth, it has also been a fertile field for Communist and pro-Nasser agitation.

Less than a decade ago, the sale of wartime scrap metal was a major source of Libyan national revenue. Then, in 1958, oil was discovered in the desert. Libya is now the seventh ranking oil producer in the world, filling 1/4 million barrels a day. It expects to take in $250 million in oil royalties this year.

And how friendly is Libya to the West? Recently, 75-year-old King Idris I and his queen, an austere Moslem couple not given to entertainment, went on a picnic in the desert. Their guests: U.S. Ambassador D. Allen Lightner Jr. and his wife.

Higher Education in Europe

Critics of education in the United States are fond of pointing to European schools as examples of quality education where the inept and lazy are turned down and therefore there is plenty of room for the able and ambitious. But this ideal doesn't always seem to work out.

There is a current revolt among students and teachers in West German universities over what they consider to be the third rate status of their country as far as higher education is concerned. They want more tax monies spent on education but, more than that, they want a different attitude among Germans and the government which may not be easy to bring about.

In West Germany, as in most European countries, students must take tough examinations at about our seventh grade level to determine the pattern of their future education. The highest achievers go on to academic secondary schools and the universities. For the others there are trade schools or a general education terminating at about the 10th grade. Seldom is there any opportunity to switch to the higher level once the decision has been made.

Unless one believes that families in lower economic levels are more stupid than the wealthy, this system should provide a reasonable cross section of economic and social groups in the universities. But it most definitely does not. The rector of Bonn University says that only about 5 per cent of the university students come from laboring men's families and that less than 4 per cent are from farm families. Even when there is proven ability and encouragement at home to go on for a higher degree, the booming West German economy sometimes interferes. Jobs are plentiful and pay well and these are a serious lure to the young German from a relatively modest family.

In the United States where free public education has expanded through the secondary level and is available at a relatively low cost throughout the university years, there is still a difference in the percentage of higher education students from financially marginal families. But the contrast is not nearly as great as in European universities. Our philosophy of ability as a criterion, rather than wealth or background, has made the difference. Even in post-war West Germany there still must remain some sort of belief that higher education is only for the aristocratic or the very rich.

There are a lot of flaws in American education. A lot of time is wasted by some students, particularly during their high school years; we need more extensive vocational and technical programs; there is a tendency for the social and athletic to outweigh the academic; education for the masses inevitably comes to overlook the individual. But quite obviously in the long run our basic philosophy is not only in keeping with our ideals of equality; it works.

Looking Backward

Terrible Tornado at Viroqua

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for July 13, 1865.

The LaCrosse Republican has an eye witness account of the terrible calamity which has befallen the people of Viroqua and challenges for them the warmest sympathy and promptest aid from all lovers of humanity.

The newspaper account gives the particulars of the entire destruction of 42 buildings:

"About 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Thursday, June 29th, two angry looking clouds approached each other from the North and South, and met at a short distance West of the Village of Viroqua, Vernon County, Wisconsin.

"The people watched the threatening events with deep solicitude. When the two forces came in contact, they whirled off at a tangent and moved in an easterly direction and passed through the very heart of this beautiful village, carrying death, destruction and danger in their progress.

"In a moment almost 50 buildings were demolished and scattered to the winds, 17 persons were killed, and about 100 men, women and children injured.

"The hurricane continued eastward in its course and it is yet unknown what havoc it caused further. "For several miles east of Viroqua it destroyed everything in its path. The total destruction of property is estimated at $200,000. The citizens of Viroqua and the surrounding country have done, and are doing, what they can to relieve the distressed.

"It's an emergency and appeals to evoke the benevolence of the citizens of this and other places.

Personal Property Tax Repeal Lost in Shuffle of Tax Debate

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—A probable casualty of the fractious and enervating dispute about state budget and tax policy is the objective of eliminating the determined to honor that tacit compact launched with a 50 per cent cutback of the personal property tax liability of mercantile and manufacturing stocks and farm livestock as a result of the historic tax revision study launched during the administration of former Gov. Nelson.

He has tried manfully to turn the legislature's attention to that goal during the months since last January, but at the moment there appears very little chance that the lawmakers will respond.

Not only is the problem of accommodating the current budget demands so difficult that there is a tendency to shunt aside commitments for additional expenditures such as would be involved in the replacement of more personal property tax base of the localities, but there is very little interest among the Democrats who rule the Assembly in tax policy related to economic development.

CUTLOOK

The recent Democratic state platform statement for example, ignores the question altogether, although the managers of the Green Bay convention spent a good deal of thought about the issues of taxation in general in preparation for the 1966 campaign for the control of the statehouse.

There may be presented here one of the important distinctions between the present day practicing Democratic and Republican politician. Republicans in general, and especially since Knowles has made a kind of administration keynote out of the question, relate taxation issues to the question of the health of the regional economy, believing that if the corporation or the employer is prospering, the fact will be reflected in the long range in more productive returns from general taxation and from expanded general employment.

Liberal Democrats are not convinced of such ultimate returns, on the one hand, and they tend to think in terms of personal benefits to individual entrepreneurs and corporate organizations, on the other, and with a notable lack of enthusiasm for the idea.

The deficiencies of the personal property tax have been recited every time any official or unofficial study has been published. It is discriminatory. It is capricious. It bears no relation whatever to the favorite "ability to pay" rule so many politicians claim is an essential condition to fair taxation. Yet the personal property tax is not a popular issue, as the ordinary politician would define popular issues, precisely because it is discriminatory. The majority of the electorate has no personal acquaintance with it, or knowledge of its operations.

EXPLANATION

The first 50 per cent reduction in personal property tax liability—which takes on the appearance of a minor miracle in the perspective of several years—was achieved largely as a part of the compromise which also brought about the first timid excursion by the state into the selective sales tax field. The big problem in personal property tax relief is the replacement of the revenue in the local tax treasuries which would be helpless otherwise for the loss. The new sales tax program brought in the money, and more important, came in an atmosphere of imaginative tax revisions that made it acceptable.

Today that adventurous spirit appears to have expired. Today the limit of the desire in the legislature is to patch up a revenue quilt for ordinary obligations which, however implausible and inconsistent, will carry legislative politicians through another election.

Summer Classes Changed

To Assist Bible Classes

Editor, Post-Crescent:

About a year ago you were kind enough to print a letter in which the undersigned called attention to an unfortunate conflict of schedule between the last week of Vacation Bible School and the first week of summer school.

Subsequent to that letter Appleton's Board of Education gave serious and careful attention to the problem, and this year scheduled summer classes to begin two weeks following the close of the school year. As a result, churches were able to conduct their valuable two-week Vacation Bible Schools without competition from the fine summer school system.

I would like to go on record publicly in commanding Appleton's Board of Education for being sensitive to a situation which called for considerable attention and adjustment.

Surely, the vast majority of Appleton citizens respect and hold dear the principle of separation of church and state, and we would want nothing to happen in the educational systems, either public or private, which would jeopardize the respect which the two should have for each other. At the same time, we should surely work together wherever coordination and cooperation is possible, and this recent action of the board certainly indicates its willingness and eagerness to do just that.

Our thanks to the men and women who have this heavy responsibility of leadership in our public school system, to Superintendent Spears and his associates for the necessary work they did in summer class schedule adjustment, and to the teachers who cheerfully went along with the change.

Appleton's children are the beneficiaries.

State Officials to View Bay Water Conditions

Mill Waste Control Progress Reports Due for Review at Tuesday Meeting

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—Leading state department officers whose duties include service on the State Committee on Water Pollution will get a first-hand view of water conditions in southern Green Bay when they take a boat tour of the bay next Tuesday afternoon.

The afternoon cruise will follow a regular business meeting of the committee at the Green Bay City Hall on Tuesday morning when the committee will receive reports on progress made by area paper mills on waste control, among other matters.

T. F. Wisniewski, executive director of the committee, said the agency has no proposals before it involving Green Bay pollution problems, but that it has accepted a long-standing invitation from Sen. Reuben LaFave of Oconto for a boat trip to ascertain current water conditions in the bay.

Part of District

LaFave's legislative district includes much of the west Green Bay shore.

The officials will embark at noon, and have lunch aboard the boat which is being arranged by the legislator.

The members of the committee are designated officials of various state agencies, including L. F. Motl, chief engineer for the Conservation Department, who is chairman, O. J. Muegge, chief sanitary engineer of the State Department of Health; Ralph Culbertson, of the State Department of Administration, Dr. E. H. Jorris, state health officer; William Sayles of the Public Service Commission, and James MacDermott, assistant attorney general, who serves as committee legal counsel.

The school now has in operation a summer certification program for prospective teachers of mentally retarded children. There are enough courses available to warrant the organization of a major field of study during the regular academic year, the regents were told. Only one additional course would be required above the existing curriculum offerings in the field.

Music Plans

The school administration also reported that student interest in a music major is high and that there are available facilities and staff to organize a course leading to the degree of bachelor of music.

The bachelor of music degree is required to achieve certification by the National Association of Schools of Music.

Staff already available for music courses include 17 full-time teachers and 10 working part-time. Eight of the full-time faculty members have doctor's degrees and two others are nearing completion of requirements for a doctorate.

The degree course would provide work in three major fields: the instrumental major, the vocal major and the piano major.

The expanding music department will be housed later in the planned fine arts building on the campus, officials said.

Baby Show, Mock

Track Meet Set

For Next Week

Fourteen ice cream socials will be held for Appleton children this week—one party at each of the recreation department's playgrounds. The social is scheduled at different parks each night from 5 to 8 p.m.

A mock track meet, a banana boat party, and a baby show will keep youngsters busy on the days when their playground doesn't have the social.

Mock Track Meets

Children will compete in a marathon, distance jumping, standing broad jump, hammer and distance throw, 50-yard hurdles and other events in the mock track meets.

Mothers are invited to bring tots under two years to the afternoon baby show. Ribbons will be awarded for various categories, such as baby with the largest eyes or with the curliest hair. Refreshments will be served after the contest.

A banana, marshmallows and sweet chocolate are all the children will need to enjoy the banana boat party.

The department's singers will perform at 1:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday at Morgan School, under director Karen Miles.

The cast for "Once Upon a Time," will continue rehearsals from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday at Edison School.

Other regular activities scheduled are the square dance at 7 p.m. Thursday at Pierce Park, and baseball competition among playground teams.

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—Two new major programs of study at Wisconsin State University at Oshkosh, including one leading to a degree in music, have been approved by the Board of Regents of State Colleges and referred to the Coordinating Committee on Higher Education for its expected concurrence.

The second new major course of study will provide an emphasis upon mental retardation in the special education curriculum.
